

James (Rusameekae) Fagerlund

James moved from Thailand to Sweden with his mother and sister when he was only nine years old. Already then, James was somewhat of a joker in every crowd and loved to be in the limelight. When two famous Thai singers, Saksit Tangtong and Kongkaphan Saengsuriya, travelled to Sweden to perform at a concert, they met the then 28-year-old James and saw potential in him becoming an entertainer. They encouraged him to move to Thailand to pursue a career.

James consequently moved back to Thailand in 2014 and walked into one of the largest media entertainment companies and said he wanted to become a celebrity. The executives were amazed by his self-confidence. Thanks to his unique personality he got a job as a host for radio- and TV-shows. He also starred in comedy series on TV, “Phuen Rak Phuen Rai” among others.

Today, people recognize James in the streets of Bangkok and want to take pictures with him. His Instagram account has over 1.5 million followers.
